A Brief HISTORY

For 130 years The Normanby Hotel has been an iconic Brisbane landmark.

Occupying a large 4,162sqm site - consisting of a multi-level, heritage listed pub and a major car park. We have dual street frontages and are situated just two kilometers from the Brisbane CBD.

This two-storey brick hotel was constructed in 1890 — replacing an earlier hotel on the same site that had opened its doors in 1872. The Normanby that we know today, was designed by JB Nicholson for the Burton family, who had owned the original hotel too.

JB Nicholson called tenders for the new Normanby Hotel in late 1889. The successful contractor was Thomas Game with a price of £4,100, including fittings. The new hotel was formally opened on 1st December 1890 with a dinner for fifty men. Most of the dinner guests were prominent citizens including Members of the Queensland Legislative Assembly.
